What is BEAT?

BEAT (Bringing Equality, Accessibility and Togetherness) is a European project that uses music as a tool to promote inclusion, accessibility, and equal opportunities for young people with disabilities. Bringing together partners from Spain, Italy, and Germany, the project develops practical resources and shares best practices to create more inclusive musical environments.

Who is BEAT for?

BEAT primarily targets young people aged 18-30, including individuals with disabilities and diverse backgrounds. The project also supports choir leaders, educators, and teachers to create more welcoming environments, and promotes awareness of inclusion, accessibility, and diversity within local communities and society at large.

From Ideas to Practice

The BEAT journey began in Frankfurt on 11th April 2026, where conductors and educators came together to learn from successful examples of inclusive choirs. The workshop showcased practical tools, from visual learning methods to sign-supported singing, that help make music more accessible for children and young people of all abilities.

Building on the Momentum

Building on the ideas explored in Frankfurt, the BEAT partners met in Palermo, Italy, from 23 to 26 April 2026 to exchange best practices on inclusive music. Together with experts in accessibility and disability inclusion, they explored practical approaches that will shape future workshops and contribute to a toolkit for more inclusive musical environments.
